

Steve Babcock

7/20/2017

Food Classifier

I partnered with Gurleen Dhody for this project as part of our Computer Vision course at IU in Spring 2017. Its goal is to classify images of food, and could be used as part of a nutrition application. See assignment.pdf for further information on the requirements. The code and instructions on how to use it are geared to work on Linux. Navigate into the Code folder for further instructions and reports.